MONUMENT TO FIRST CONFEDERATE KILLED

MONUMENT TO CAPTAIN MARR.

Beautiful Stone Unveiled in Presence of Great Throng at Fairfax.

ANDERSON THE ORATOR

His Speech Declared One of the Most Valuable of Its Kind Ever Delivered.

(Special from a Staff Correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 1.—Forty-three years ago John Quincy Marr, captain of the Warrenton Rifles, was killed in action at Fairfax Courthouse, and to-day a rough granite monument was dedicated a few hundred feet from the spot on which he fell. He was the first soldier of the Confederacy to give his life in defense of the Southern cause, a fact only recently brought to light, but apparently established beyond controversy.
The ceremonies attending the dedication were simplicity itself, but the occasion was marked by notable speeches, the chief of which was the address of the day by Attorney-General Anderson. Several distinguished men who heard it said afterward that it was one of the most valuable of the kind they had ever heard. It evidenced the most careful research and preparation, and was on unanswerable argument as to the right of secession. But there were expressions of broad patriotism and evidences of "reconstruction" in the best sense that not only won the hearty applause of the veterans and their sons and daughters gathered in the historic old courthouse, but appealed to several men of the North who were in the audience, and were for the first time attending a Confederate love feast.
One of the most heartily applauded of Mr. Anderson's periods was one in which he indicated that some of the Northern States were to attempt secession at this day they would find they would have to meet the South in battle.

ASPHALT HAS EASY VICTORY

Long Deadlock Broken in Street Committee.

MR. JOHN TEEFEY TURNS THE TIDE

Contract Involving $30,000 for Smooth Paving Goes to Washington Concern.

WARREN BROTHERS LOSE AFTER GALLANT FIGHT

Final Vote on Adopting Asphalt Blocks 9 to 5—Colonel Cutshaw Brings a Statement About Blocks Taken Up Around City.

For Asphalt Blocks—Messrs. Otway S. Allen, Bahr, Burton, Mann, Minor, Peters, Spaulding, Telford and West.—Against Asphalt Blocks—Messrs. J. M. N. Allen, Adams, Huber, Whittet and Williams.

By the above vote, the Committee on Streets, after a brief, but stormy, session yesterday afternoon broke the prolonged deadlock over the $30,000 contract for smooth pavement on East Grace and Franklin Streets, and awarded it to the Washington Asphalt Brick and Tile Company, at $2.30 per square yard, for five-inch asphalt blocks to be laid on broken stone and sand.

The contest, on the modified specifications, prepared by the city engineer, was again between the asphalt blocks and the bitulthite patent pavement, offered by Warren Brothers and Company, of Boston, and the prices were exactly the same—$2.30 per square yard. The credit for ending the long deadlock belongs to John Teehey, of Madison Ward, who up to yesterday had voted steadily with six of his colleagues for the bitulthite pavement, the vote having stood 7 to 7 between this and asphalt blocks.

Every member of the committee was present at yesterday's meeting and the fight was for the asphalt pavement by Messrs. Mann, Minor and Peters, while Messrs. J. M. N. Allen and Adams were spokesmen for the other side.

Engineer's Report.

The meeting was called to order by Chairman Allen at 5:15 o'clock, and the city engineer reported that he had performed his duty in the matter of tabulating the bids, and he said the Warren Brothers Company had not complied with the specifications made by his department under direction of the committee.

In answer to a question by Mr. Minor the city engineer said he favored the $3 bid of the asphalt people first, and the one at $2.30 submitted by them, as his own choice.

Mr. Mann advocated the asphalt from the start, and he wanted the thickest blocks, contending that they could be used once, and when worn, turned over again.

"I understand you cannot do that," said Chairman Allen, "as it is said the blocks deteriorate at the bottom as well as the top."

"This is not the case," said Mr. Mann.

A DIVORCED MAN HAD A HARD TIME

Three Fulton Ministers Refuse to Perform Marriage Ceremony Unusual Dilemma.

Three Fulton pastors last night refused to marry a young East End couple because the groom-elect was a divorced man.
The wedding ceremony was arranged to occur at 9:30 o'clock in the evening, in the parlors of the Rev. John W. Dougherty, pastor of the Apostolic Church. The contracting couple were Mr. Wesley Bowles, an employee of the Cedar Works, and Miss Bettie Nunnally, both residents of Fulton. During the day Bowles was informed that, and Mr. Dougherty was a divorced man, and when the couple arrived at night to be married he declined to perform the ceremony.
A similar reception met them elsewhere. The Rev. Mr. Hepburn, of the Fulton Baptist Church, and the Rev. A. A. Jones, of the Denney Street Methodist Church, but both ministers declared their inability to marry Mr. Bowles and Miss Nunnally.
How the complication finally resolved itself, could not be learned last night. It is understood that the couple left Fulton to seek an uptown minister.

OPPOSITION TO PRIMARY PLAN

Botetourt Democrats Instruct Delegates to Vote for Parker and Daniel.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
BLUE RIDGE, VA., June 1.—Botetourt Democrats in mass meeting at Pincastle to-day elected the following delegates to the State convention: Dr. Barker, J. W. Barger, A. T. Howell, Dewitt Layman, L. Dillon, William Eversden, U. Hyde, Sidney Noel, G. W. Breckenridge, E. V. Barley, C. B. Camper, L. Deiber and Matt. Cahoon, the two latter having half vote each.
A resolution was offered instructing delegates to stand squarely for a primary plan for selecting all candidates.
To the surprise of the patron of this resolution, it developed a strong opposition, but on a test vote it went through two to one.
The meeting was called to order by the county chairman, Dr. Barker. William R. Allen was elected chairman and R. Haden Penna secretary.
The resolution favoring the primary plan was strenuously advocated by Dr. Barker, Dr. Latane, R. Haden Penna and Phil. F. Brown. Resolutions were passed instructing the delegates to support Judge A. B. Parker for President and Senator Daniel for Vice-President.

DALNY IS GREAT NAVAL BASE FOR JAPS

Russian Cavalry Engage in Terrific Charge, in Which Lances Were Used Successfully.
200 Japs Killed—Rumor Says Kuroki Overwhelmed Kuropatkin.

(Special London Times Cable to The Times-Dispatch, Copyright 1904.)
CHIEF POO, June 2.—Chinese refugees, who escaped from Dalny, arrived here yesterday in a junk, bringing the first particulars of the occupation of that town by the Japanese.

All of the European non-combatants in the town tried to escape, but many were unable to secure transportation. So soon as the last of the Russian marionettes appeared, the Chinese in Dalny opened the jail, releasing more than two hundred desperate characters, who immediately proceeded to loot the town. It was fully thirty hours after the Russians left before the Japanese put in their appearance, and a veritable reign of terror resulted in the interim. Many murders were committed, and any one who objected to being robbed was promptly and vigorously assaulted by the escaped convicts.

The Japanese, who occupied Dalny, soon restored order, and many of the robbers were summarily executed.
It develops that the sea base used by Admiral Togo, and from which the Second and Third Japanese armies were started for the Manchurian coast, was originally included in Admiral Alexieff's plans for war. He intended that it should have been used as a Russian torpedo station before the destroyers could be fitted out, but the plans were held in St. Petersburg after being forwarded there for approval, and consequently nothing was done until after the war broke out, and then the first attempt to take the island, revealed the fact that the Japanese were already there.

The Russians left Dalny much more serviceable than had been expected, and the Japanese have already repaired the breaches in the fortifications and re-mounted guns.
The mines are being carefully removed from the harbor, and it is likely the Japanese will make the bay a naval base fully as accessible as is Baseo.
